

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

PC 5 inputs personal information on user A and transmits the inputted personal information to personal information server 1. Personal
5 information server 1 registers the personal information on user A in personal information file 21 of user A. PC 5 transmits an electronic mail from user A to user B, generate recipient information describing information on user B based on the transmitted electronic mail and transmits the generated recipient information to personal information server 1. Personal 10 information server 1 receives the recipient information and empowers user B described in the recipient information to refer to the personal information on user A. User B requests personal information server 1 to transmit the personal information on user A to user B. Personal information server 1 transmits the personal information on user A to user B if user B is 15 empowered to refer to the personal information on user A.